

Autism Research Fair

Yes! You can change the course of Autism!

You know that Autism research is happening. You've wondered what it is. You've even thought about getting involved. And all that wondering has left you with questions.

Wonder no longer!

On Saturday, July 23rd, Autism Research and Resources of Oregon will host a variety of local Autism researchers, giving you an opportunity to learn about their research, and get involved.

Through your participation, YOU can change the course of autism!

Date : July 23rd, 2011 (Saturday) Time : 1:00 pm – 3:00 pm

Location : ARRO Westside Family and Community Center
2360 SW 170th Ave, Beaverton OR

Cost : Free (donations welcome)

Researchers :

E. Gene Stubbs, MD

Associate Professor Emeritus of Psychiatry and Pediatrics (OHSU, Portland, Oregon.)

Jan Van Santen Ph.D

Director and Professor, Center for Spoken Language and Understanding (OHSU, Beaverton, Oregon.)

Lois Black, Ph.D

Senior Scientist, Center for Spoken Language and Understanding (OHSU, Beaverton, Oregon.)

Alison Presmanes Hill, Ph.D

Senior Research Associate, Center Spoken Language and Understanding (OHSU, Beaverton, Oregon.)

Jean-Baptiste Roulet, Ph.D

Research Associate Professor and Manager of the Pediatrics Research Laboratories (OHSU, Portland, Oregon.)

If you are a researcher and interested in joining us at this research fair, please contact us today!

Autism Research and Resources of Oregon, <http://arroautism.org/>

info@arroautism.org, 503-351-9255